DeWarren K. Langley accepted for admission to Legal Studies Institute in Washington, DC

Durham, NC - DeWarren K. Langley has been accepted for admission to the Legal Studies Institute (LSI) of the Fund for American Studies in Washington, DC. and awarded the 2009 Fund for American Studies Scholarship in the amount of $2,500.00.

A ten-week summer program, LSI combines legal internships, academic coursework for credit, networking opportunities, and career development activities. The Institute will give participants the opportunity to meet and interact with leaders in the legal profession – enabling them to build a valuable professional network as they enter careers in the law.

The first week of the program was dedicated to the academic seminar, the Federalist Understanding of the Constitution. Students will work full time at their legal internships for the remaining nine weeks.

Langley says, "Thus far, LSI has been an incredible and invaluable experience of academic and professional development. In addition to gaining first-hand exposure to the American legal system, scholarly professionals, and practitioners and to the history of Washington DC, I am enjoying my internship. The opportunity to practice the legal concepts learned over the past year will further my understanding of the legal profession."

DeWarren is a Summer Associate with the Law Office of Marilyn Cain Gordon.

The Fund for American Studies is a nonprofit organization that sponsors educational programs in partnership with Georgetown University. Since 1967, TFAS has hosted more than 10,000 students in its academic and internship programs.
